The NMPA team have proposed the foundation of these goals will be: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• To reduce adverse outcomes for mothers and babies.</li> <li>• To improve the number of healthy pregnancies.</li> <li>• To improve outcomes in disadvantaged groups.</li> <li>• To identify poor performing services early.</li> <li>• To explore the feasibility of developing measures to capture the experience of people giving birth.</li> <li>• To improve data quality and reporting.</li> </ul> In order to ensure the improvement goals deliver on the most urgent and pertinent issues in maternity care, the process for developing these goals can only be initiated once the goals have been received, analysed and validated. The goals will be developed through workshops with clinicians, data providers, those working at the national level to improve quality, and the Women and Families Involvement Group. This collaboration with key stakeholder and governance groups will ensure the audit remains integrated within the national maternity landscape and adds value to the current maternity services. As part of this process, we also plan to evaluate how NMPA data is currently used by maternity teams for example, whether the current methods for presenting data could improve its accessibility. The intended output of this process is a set of quantifiable improvement goals, to enable progress to be measured and monitored. Once the improvement goals have been agreed, we will review and revise our methods for stimulating healthcare improvement at national, regional and local level. |
